BOY DROWNED AT ROCKFORD

Fred Groff, of Woodstock, Lost His Life in White River Thursday Evening.

LONG SEARCH FOR THE BODY
Successful This Morning—Drowning
Occurred Below the Railroad Bridge.

Fred Moore, generally known as Fred Groff, was drowned in the river just below the railroad bridge at Rockford Thursday evening about 4:30 o'clock. He was eleven years and seven months of age and he lived in Woodstock with Mrs. Sarah Groff, she and her husband, the late Frank Groff, having taken him to raise when he was five months old.

The boy left home about eleven o'clock yesterday morning saying he was to carry dinner to someone working at the canning factory.

Though cautioned by Mrs. Groff not to do so he went on to the river, accompanied by two other Woodstock boys, Alfred Lucas and Earl Young, who were about his age.

In the afternoon at the river they met Travis Spiers, Henry Abel, Roy Kindel and several others and all went in swimming just below the north span of the bridge. The water at this point is shallow near the shore but a short distance out there is a jump off into deep water with a swift current. In some places the water is over fifteen feet deep.

Some fisherman warned the smaller boys to keep close to shore. The Groff boy could not swim, but was trying to learn. Reports differ as to just how the drowning occurred, but according to one of the boys, Groff remarked "Now watch me swim" and struck out, sinking at once into the deep water. He came up two or three times, his uplifted arms only showing above the water. His excited companions were unable to assist him and he was drowned. Some of the boys started at once to give the alarm, one of them hurrying to Woodstock with the report. A neighbor conveyed the news to Mrs. Groff to whom it was a fearful shock.

It was not long after the drowning until a number of men and boys, some of whom were camping near, were in the river in search of the body. Undertaker Will Hustedt was notified and when he reached the river he sent to Seymour for more help. W. A. Carter, Arthur Carter and several others arrived about six o'clock with grappling hooks. The work of systematically dragging the river below the bridge was begun under the direction of W. A. Carter who has had much experience in such work. Although two boat loads of men worked hard until nearly ten o'clock the body was not found and efforts for the night were discontinued.

During the evening many people from Seymour, Woodstock and along the river gathered to watch the efforts of the searching party. After dark a big bonfire was built on the bank and numbers of the people remained until the search for the night ceased.

The river was dragged for a distance of probably forty feet. Mr. Carter, who has aided in the recovery of probably a dozen bodies, was of the opinion that the boy would be found not far from where he went down. Just where the latter occurred, however, was not certain, as the opinion of those who were in the river at the time differed somewhat.

While the search was going on, Mrs. Groff, with neighbors, waited anxiously at the home of Mr. Bedel, in Woodstock, for news from the river and was deeply disappointed when word came that the evening's work had proved unsuccessful. Many others in Woodstock sat up late waiting for news.

The search was renewed about half past eight this morning. A line was stretched across the river below the point where the drowning occurred. Three boatloads of men held it and worked down the river, dragging it carefully as they went. The work was very difficult, owing to the deep holes and numerous strong undercurrents that were found. Several men were also busy diving at different points. The men who were dragging the stream had gone down the river, probably one hundred feet, and were working back when the body was found about seventy-five feet below where the drowning occurred and about fifty feet from shore. The body was caught by T. Roeger Carter, who, with Peter Gale and Ernest Allen, was in one of the boats. The body when caught was on a sandbar in about six feet of water, just below a deep hole and at a point where two strong currents came together. The body showed evidences of having been hooked before and it is thought possible it may have been disturbed last night or during the search earlier this morning, and thus started down the river. One of the searchers last night thought at one time he had caught it.

After its recovery, which occurred about 11 o'clock, the body was brought to Seymour to the Hustedt undertaking establishment and prepared for burial, and this afternoon was taken to the home of Mrs. Groff.

Coroner Dowden will come from Brownstown late this evening to hold the inquest.

Those who have known the boy all speak of him as bright, well behaved and pleasant. He had served frequently at the Country Club as a caddy and was well liked there.

The funeral will be held from the residence in Woodstock Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rev. F. M. Huckleberry.

His is but one of the many lives White river has claimed during the past few years, and numbers of the drownings have occurred within a distance of two or three miles from the point where yesterday's tragedy occurred. Scarcely a year passes that some one is not drowned in this part of the river, the deep holes and strong currents making it a dangerous section for those who are not good swimmers or particularly careful.

Minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

Davison reported for the Board of Public Works that a conference would be arranged in a short time with the engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad as to the best material to be used for the improvement of Jeffersonville avenue.

Davison reported also that some of the tile for the Third street sewer had arrived and the work of placing them would begin Saturday morning.

The matter of bill of the Seymour Mutual Telephone Co. was discussed by Mills. Clerk Hauenschild stated that the Mutual Telephone Company had assumed the contract for operating the fire alarm system made with the old company and that the bill was in accord with this contract. The contract was made with the Home Telephone Company April 11, 1906 for a period of five years.

Davison introduced an ordinance regulating the putting in of concrete curb and gutter and requiring all such work to be done under the supervision of the city civil engineer. The ordinance provides for a uniform method of doing this work, requiring curbs to be six inches wide and six inches deep; the gutter to be thirty inches wide and four inches thick; the top coat to be one inch and all exposed surfaces to be carefully troweled. The rules were suspended and the ordinance was adopted by a unanimous vote.

W. R. Day introduced an ordinance to repeal section five of the sanitary ordinance which was adopted July 7, 1910. This section requires vault cleaners to do their work at night between the hours of 8 p. m. and 6 a. m. Mills opposed the suspension of rules and advancement of the ordinance but the other councilmen favored the suspension of the rules and on its final reading it was adopted by a vote of 4 to 3; W. R. Day, Sherman Day, Hodapp and Taskey voting aye; Mills, Davison and Misch voting no.

Hodapp asked that tile be straightened on Indianapolis avenue at corner of Sixth street so that water would run off readily.

W. R. Day moved that street commissioner be instructed to remove all poles and wires which had been left by the old telephone company to the city's ground and take charge of same.

W. R. Day suggested that the city purchase a mower for cutting weeds about the city.

On motion of Mills the city attorney was instructed to take up the matter of contract with the Seymour Mutual Telephone Co., including in the contract the use of the special discs for fire alarms from a number of manufacturing plants, this being the same service as was required under the contract with the old telephone company.

A communication was read from Charles Steinwedel, township trustee, relative to the city's allotment for cleaning the city's share of the McDonald ditch. Referred to board of public works.

A communication was read from the Larkins Company relative to new wheels for the fire wagon. The company agrees to furnish two new rear wheels free and two front wheels with ball bearings for $130. Referred to board of public safety. Council adjourned at 8:45.

DOLLAR WHEAT.

Market Reacts from Recent Decline—
Reaches Dollar Mark Again.

The wheat market, which has been declining for a few days, took an upward turn again today, and is quoted at one dollar per bushel. The price some days ago was one dollar, but had fallen to 96 cents. The cause of the rise is probably due to the reports of the shortage in the French wheat crop. The Blish mills are paying one dollar this afternoon for wheat.

Freak Apple.

Calvin Bedel brought in this afternoon a freak apple. It is of the Winona variety, and is really two apples joined together into one. There is only a single stem, but there are two buds shown. The apples are grown together as one apple. It was raised on Mr. Bedel's farm, near Uniontown.

AUGUST WEATHER.

Rev. Hicks Has Hot Wave and Storm on Program.

Rev. Hicks, the weather prophet, has the following weather mapped out for the remainder of the month: The 3rd to the 9th is the first seismic period for August. A regular storm period is central on the 8th, covering the 6th to the 11th. This period promises to come in with cloudiness and threatening conditions. Low barometer and storm or rain, wind and thunder will reach a crisis on touching the 8th, 9th and 10th. This is about the most promising rain period for the mid-summer month. Electrical storms will center on the 9th. A decided change to cooler and more pleasant weather will follow storms of this period for several days. A reactionary storm period is central on the 13th, 14th and 15th. Marked increase of storm conditions will appear early in this period. A general deficiency of rainfall is to be expected this month or during this summer, but good local rains will be natural in many scattering sections in central to the northern states during the three storm periods up to August 15th. Violent to dangerous storms will hit some localities.

A regular storm period will pass on the 17th to the 23rd central on the 19th. This is another period in which may be expected some violent mid-summer bluster, black clouds, local rains and thunder.

A reactionary storm period covers the 22nd to the 25th. The astronomical conditions at this time are very favorable for dangerous storms and tidal waves in all the gulf regions. Great storms in the south at this time would almost certainly induce boreal winds and general change to unseasonable cool weather over most parts of the inland states.

A regular storm period is central on the 23rd, covering the last three days of August and culminating in the opening days of September. The earth's autumnal equinox is sometimes severely felt during the last half of August.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

AUGUST 7, 1910

JESUS ON THE WAY TO JERUSALEM. Lesson:—Matt. 19: 13-26.

GOLDEN TEXT:—Jesus said, Suffer little children and forbid them not, to come unto me; for of such is the kingdom of heaven.—Matt. 19

We have but one lesson in this far-reaching chapter which also looks on to the kingdom, when the twelve apostles shall sit on twelve thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel (verse 28). According to the harmony, there should come in the sequence of events between the last lesson and this one the whole of Luke x to xvii and John vii to xi, but the opening verses of our chapter give a suggestive summary if taken in connection with Mark x. 1. "Great multitudes followed Him, and He healed them there; and as He was wont He taught them again." He was ever teaching them of the kingdom and showing them by His healing all manner of disease something of the nature of a kingdom in which the inhabitant shall not say, I am sick, and the people that dwell therein shall be forgiven their iniquity (Isa. xxxiii, 24). Christendom of today, however, has no more use for kingdom teaching than it has for our Lord's teaching on divorce (verses 3-12), and can this be wondered at when from so many pulpits it is declared that there never was a literal Adam and Eve, completely setting aside the Adam and Eve facts as stated by our Lord in verses 4, 5. Why profess to honor Jesus even as a good man and set aside His plain teaching as if He knew nothing? Surely this evil age must be fast drawing to a close, and the kingdom must be drawing nigh. Will you be there?

From the story of the little children onward this lesson is also found in Mark x and Luke xviii, and it is the first lesson since that on the transfiguration which is recorded by the three. To see the force of this we must consider what we have just noted concerning the large portion recorded only by Luke and John. In a very recent lesson we had some teaching concerning the children, but now we have a contrast in the little children and the rich young ruler between such as enter the kingdom and such as cannot. They brought these little ones—in Luke they are called infants—that He might put His hands on them and pray. The apostles are so out of harmony with the mind of Christ that they actually rebuke those who brought them. Jesus was much displeased and uttered the memorable words which have ever since been a comfort to multitudes of mothers' hearts. "Suffer the little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of God." "And He took them up in His arms, put His hands upon them and blessed them" (Mark x. 14, 16). I like to associate with this act and these words of His

the words of Zech. viii. 5. "The streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in the streets thereof." For, while that refers to Jerusalem on earth when it shall have become a holy city, is it not true that all true earthly joy is but a faint suggestion of the joys of the kingdom? Receive His word, receive Himself, as simply and unquestioningly as a little child.

Now mark the contrast. Here is a young man, a ruler, very rich, having great possessions, morally very good, for he thought he had kept the commandments from his youth up, and certainly very earnest, for he came running and knelt to Jesus with his question, "Good Master, what good thing shall I do that I may have eternal life?" That he might see himself and his real need the Lord set before him the commandments, for the intention of the law is to bring us all in guilty before God (Rom. iii. 19) that we, seeing our guilt and our helplessness, may be willing to be justified freely by His grace. The law as a whole not seeming to affect him, for in his self righteousness he fancied he had kept all, our Lord brought him face to face with the first one, "Thou shalt have no other gods before Me," by suggesting that he give all that he had to the poor and thus transfer his treasure to heaven, then die to self and follow Jesus, for, as one has said, "He who bears his cross is on his way to his execution." That ended the interview, and he went away sorrowful.

He was unconsciously an idolater; his wealth and his morality and probably his standing among men were more to him than Jesus Christ and life eternal; hence our Lord's statement that it was next to impossible for such to enter the kingdom. Rich people such as Abraham, David, Zacchaeus and others have been saved, so that literal poverty is not essential to salvation, but poverty of spirit, a consciousness of guilt and helplessness and nothingness before God certainly is (Isa. lxvi. 2; Luke xviii. 13, 14; Matt. v. 3; Tit. iii. 5, 6). This stirs a question in Peter's mind: "Behold, we have forsaken all and followed Thee. What shall we have, therefore?" (Verse 27.) Then comes our Lord's reply concerning the kingdom with which we began the lesson. Compare His words in Luke xxii. 28-30, "Ye are they who have continued with Me in My temptations. And I appoint unto you a kingdom, as My Father hath appointed unto Me; that ye may eat and drink at My table in My kingdom and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel." The promise for us is in Rev. iii. 21.

ington, and during that time he had some acquaintance with New York. But what he could explain about the skyscrapers and the bridges soon ceased to satisfy the curiosity of his young wife and his sister-in-law, and General Carter and Captain Huse were called upon to answer a thousand questions the ladies of the party asked with seemingly lively interest.

President Montt's plans, he said, during his short stay here, were to rest here today; Friday noon go to Boston, remain there until Saturday noon, and then proceed to Beverly by a government boat—the Mayflower—which President Taft had so kindly placed at his service. He would lunch with the president at Beverly and return to New York Saturday night. Sunday he would rest, and on Monday probably accept President Taft's invitation to visit West Point. He would then go to Washington. The president and his party will sail next Tuesday and will soon be at Bad Nauheim and take the cure there. He wants the rest more than the waters, he said.

"I am tired," he said. "I want to rest."

"Have you ever noticed," asked the teacher in English, "that a great many well educated people persistently pronounce at least one word incorrectly? I know a college man who for some reason always says 'timidity' for 'timidity', and he drags this oddity into almost every sentence he speaks. Then there's little Mrs. Barrett, who invariably talks of practicing 'economy'. Mrs. Smith's pet word is 'prejudice', while Mrs. Jones can't help saying 'guiltless'. Just listen to them and you'll hear the same people repeating over and over such mistakes as 'concommicate', 'predeliction', 'circutious', 'percucator', 'areated', 'cupolo', etc."—Ex-

SUMMER COMFORT

A Sewing Chair That's That and Lots More.

GIFTS FOR THE TRAVELER.

Amusements For Children on an Ocean Voyage—Summer Window Shades That Make For Coolness—A Delicious Lemonade That Is Little Known.

Dear Mabel—New York became so intolerably hot that we just rushed down to Belle Harbor one Saturday afternoon not long ago and luckily found a charming cottage which had not been rented, so we took it, and at the present moment I'm sitting on the porch with a glorious view of the ocean in front of me, for you must know that Belle Harbor is only an hour's ride from town and right on the ocean. Well, the chair that I'm occupying is one of the joys of my life, and I stumbled across it quite unexpectedly in a department shop last week. It is called a sewing chair, but it has many other uses. At first glance you would take it for an ordinary rocking chair, with the peculiarity of having solid sides, but when these sides, which are hinged at the seat,

A PORCH SEWING CHAIR.

are let down its other uses are well understood. These sides become transformed into broad arms on which you may lay your sewing or use your writing pad as I'm doing now. Except for unusual work these arms are as good as a table. But I'm not half through with the attractions of the chair, for you can take the rockers off when you want it to be stationary and fold them up, and the chair will rest firmly on its four legs. What do you think of that for a "stunt" piece of furniture?

Gift For the Traveler.

Dorothy D. went abroad last week, and I made her such a pretty little steamer present, one that I found so useful the last time I crossed. It's a simple portfolio made of gray canvas, with a single large pausy "for thoughts" worked on the cover. To make the portfolio all that is necessary are two pieces of cardboard the desired size. These are covered with the canvas and lined with violet silk. The two materials I overcast together all round the edges. With a hinge of ribbon the portfolio is complete. Oh, yes, I forgot to say that on the reverse side of the cover I embroidered Dorothy's monogram and that two ribbons passed around the portfolio are tied to keep the contents secure. I used my case for preserving prints and drawings while traveling.

And, talking of gifts, when children travel a few well chosen presents will keep them happy. It really takes very little to amuse children. A box of gifts to last through the days of ocean voyage can be arranged that may make all the difference between a pleasant and a disagreeable trip to both mother and child. Such a box was recently got up for some children by a friend of mine. The outside box, of generous proportions, was tied about with a silk flag, for the youthful traveler, particularly if he is a boy, wants to flaunt the stars and stripes on all patriotic occasions. Each small box put into the large one was numbered, with directions as to when it was to be opened and how its contents were to be used. For instance, "Box No. 1" contained peppermints to be opened after the first meal on board. "Box No. 2" had an exciting deck game to be opened the next afternoon. A morning gift was a tablet and a set of colored crayons. Another gift was a set of bean bags made of blue linen marked with the owner's initials. A game of cards with the pictures of the masterpieces in art was a helpful gift. An outfit for making paper flowers was a very suitable gift for the girl of the party, and to one of the boys just learning to tell the time a dollar watch was given.

Older little people frequently get restless on long trips. For them was a box of candy made doubly sweet by writing some little personal messages and humorous sayings on bits of paper and wrapping them around the bonbons. And what child would not love to receive a pretty box containing a fountain pen, a book of stamps, a few special delivery stamps, postal cards and paper wrappers? Little red leather record books would not come amiss either, as the young traveler would feel most important when making notes of the trip. And what fun it would be to read such notes written by a child of an imaginative mind!

The Double Shade.

I think it so queer that more housekeepers do not know about double shades that are to be had for windows. In summer they are particularly desirable. They are not wonderfully new; but, as I have just hinted, very few women know of their existence. Most women who want to keep out the glare of the summer sun, yet have attractive window effects from the inside, use two sets of shades, the dark green ones hanging next the window to keep out the sun and the white ones next the room over which to hang curtains of cool looking net or muslin. This is bunglesome and unnecessary, as it is possible to buy shades that are green on the outside and white or cream on the inside, or if you want the dark side next the window they can be made in this way.

Mother has just brought me a glass of "frog lemonade." You never heard of it? Probably not. It's a southern drink that is perfectly delicious, and I know you'll bless me one of these hot days if I give you the recipe. Take a large punch bowl, put in a pound of sugar, three quarts of water, the juice of two dozen lemons and one of pineapple and add two bottles of seltzer water. Mix all well. Add a dozen or so ripe strawberries or cherries and thin slices of pineapple and lemon. If not sweet enough add more sugar. When thoroughly mixed add a large square of ice and let the mixture get very cold before serving. Fill the glasses one quarter full of crushed ice and fill up with the lemonade, adding with it some of the fruit. This is a very generous quantity, but the proportions could be easily reduced. Yours devotedly, MABEL.

When Going on a Picnic.

Do not attempt too much is the best all around rule for the picnic giver, says Marion Harris Neil. Do not go too far. Hungry people are never at their best. Do not overelaborate the food. A large choice is not necessary. A plentiful allowance of a few well selected and appetizing dishes is much wiser. Do not arrange too long a day. An early start is difficult for the hostess, who has much to oversee in packing and arranging, and unpopular with most people.

If the picnic party happens to have among its numbers some young people we must cater for big appetites and provide substantial sandwiches.

Though substantial, they need not be dry, coarse or plain. Pack carefully. For this purpose always save tin candy boxes and pasteboard boxes of a convenient size. Have on hand plenty of oiled paper. It is indispensable.

Paper cloths and napkins are now so dainty that many hostesses use them at picnics in preference to taking their own table linen. In arranging for a picnic have as few things to take home as possible. Nobody wants to take home the surplus edibles which should never have been taken. The most fickle appetite surprises itself under the mellowing influence of invigorating air and the novelty of it all, but it has a limit too.

Cucumber sandwiches are an old standby for the veranda tea and the summer picnic, but one woman has a way of giving these old timers a little different tang from those usually served. The secret may be in the few drops of onion juice which she sprinkles over the slices of the vegetable and in the paprika with which she seasons the mayonnaise that moistens the filling.

Household Hints.

Do you know that coffee stains, even when there is cream in the coffee, can be removed from the most delicate silk or woolen fabrics by brushing the spots with pure glycerin? Rinse in lukewarm water and press on the wrong side until quite dry. The glycerin absorbs both the coloring matter and the grease.

Do you know if a cloth is wetted in vinegar and wrung out as dry as possible with the hands and wrapped around cheese and then the whole put in a large paper bag and kept in a cool place the cheese will retain the moisture and freshness of a newly cut cheese and will not mold.

Do you know that in peeling apples the brown satin that generally appears on peeled slices can be avoided by setting each slice as it is peeled in a basin of cold water? Thus no contact with the air is possible, and the stain is avoidable.

The water draws out the acids, and there is a sacrifice of flavor to color if this plan is used and the apples are soaked too long. Any discolored slices will turn white again if rubbed with a piece of lemon.

Do you know that sometimes the most careful washing will not remove the flavor and odor of food from the utensil in which it was cooked?

This is frequently the case with fish, onion, cabbage, etc., but there is a remedy which may be a little trouble and yet is well worth trying. After any of these articles have been cooked wash the utensil well with soap and water. Then nearly fill it with cold water and for each quart of water add one tablespoonful of dissolved washing soda.

Place on the fire and let the water get boiling hot. Now pour the water into the sink. Rinse the utensil with clean water, and on wiping it dry it will be found perfectly sweet.

A Change In Furniture Covers.

There is a change in the materials selected for loose summer coverings for furniture. The pale tans and grays that have concealed or protected, as the case may be, chairs and sofas for a number of years may have the quality of coolness to recommend them, but they were certainly depressing.

Now it is the fashion to make the slip covers of pretty cretonnes, not necessarily light, but in cool looking greens and browns, soft blues and dull pinks. These are much prettier than the linen and will last an entire summer without a visit to the laundry.

NEW FURNITURE.

Two Ingenious and Useful Inventions For the Home.

A USEFUL DRESSING TABLE.

The Chafing Dish Cabinet Is the Soul of Hospitality—A Boon to People Living in Small Apartments and in Boarding Houses.

A folding dressing table and a chafing dish cabinet are the latest ingenious pieces of furniture made for the dwellers of small houses and apartments where every inch of room counts and where every clever space saving device that is attractive to look upon and yet adds to the comfort of living is welcomed with open purses. The last word in compactness of arrangement and simplicity of design is spoken in these last examples of the artisan's genius.

The dressing table is a reproduction from an antique adapted to present day needs with present day mechanism concealed in its polished mahogany top, by means of which it is converted automatically from a plain little table that could stand unquestioned in the parlor or living room—or any place in the flat for that matter—into the most convenient and spacious dressing table. The top is divided into two parts. By lifting the leaves on their invisible hinges a center part rises from below like an elevator, bringing into view a well selected toilet outfit mounted in silver, each piece fitting perfectly in its own little compartment—comb, brush, hand mirror, powder and salve boxes and manicure implements. In the middle, lying flat on its face, is a good sized mirror fitted with hinges and uprights that is easily lifted in place after the table is open and folded flat when it is to be closed. Nothing could be more ingeniously deceiving and serve two purposes so skillfully.

The chafing dish cabinet, so unobtrusive in its outside appearance, is the soul of hospitality. Within its smooth wooden doors are four compartments and two drawers. One, the lowest, is set aside for the chafing dish resting on a portable tray of white opaque glass bound with wood, in which are handles at either end. The glass is quickly cleansed and does not become too hot to touch. In another compartment is a fixed rack for glasses and another, which swings out so as to be in easy reach, for a set of cruets and condiments and a place for pepper, salt and all the things necessary for a chafing dish supper. There is a place for a cracker jar, too, and in the drawers are napkins, knives and forks. Besides, there is room for plates, if they must be kept there, and any number of packages, from which the supper is culled. The top is flat and just the right height for the cook to stand comfortably to stir. It is a boon to the hospitable hearts of people who live in apartment hotels and boarding houses, where nothing tastes as good as something made by one's own hand and where nothing is more fun than to gather around a steaming chafing dish for a rarebit or an la Newburg in the wee sma' hours. Who among the vast army of boarders has not longed for just such conveniences when restaurants are closed or the trouble of dressing to go out seems the greatest woe in the world?

Scorched Linen.

When linen has been badly scorched try the following method:

Boil to a good consistency in half a pint of vinegar two ounces of fuller's earth and the juice of two onions. Spread this mixture over the damaged part and let it dry. If the threads are not actually burnt through the scorched place will appear after washing as white and perfect as the rest of the linen.

PAPER TO THE RESCUE.

A Saves Laundry Bills and Cuts Out Dishwashing.

Are we approaching a paper age in housekeeping? Is the revolt of woman against the endless washing of dishes to be met with paper plates, cups and service shells, and are laundry bills to be lessened by the use of paper table covers and dollies? It would be a charming solution. Fancy at the end of a meal just gathering up tablecloth, dishes and all and thrusting them into the fireplace or the waste paper basket! It would be housekeeping made easy. And it is fast becoming practicable, for these paper articles are constantly improving in quality. The only drawback now is the price. When a dozen paper service shapes, for instance, are thrown away after the lobster a la Newburg course, from 60 cents to $3, according to the quality of goods, is gone.

But they are very attractive, these service cups. They come in all possible devices, and as they are fashioned of handmade paper, impervious to grease and damp, any sort of food can be put in them. It is even possible to cook creamed oysters, chicken, etc., in them, so that individual portions can come straight from the stove to the table in paper shells.

There are fancy shapes to serve jellies and ice creams in, with lace paper dollies under them. The paper napkins and table covers are very fresh and cool looking for summer, and those of simple design are not at all expensive. The dollies and center pieces in lace design are very fine and almost as pliable as those of real lace and linen.

As for the plates, while at first thought the idea of eating off paper plates does not seem inviting, no one can object after seeing them, for they, too, are proof against damp and grease, and they are very decorative. These and the service cups are to be had in designs suitable to the seasons and the different holidays as they come. Hostesses in the country, where help is difficult to procure, will find it a great convenience to have a supply of these paper devices on hand.

Housework Made Easy.

It is clearly every woman's duty when the days of summer approach to lighten her domestic labors as much as possible in order that she may enjoy the open air pleasures and so store up strength and health for the comparatively shut in winter days.

One piece house dresses of calico or lawn are nice because they are cool, easily laundered, do not fade and are always becoming.

To keep the house cool and clean in the easiest way we should have bare floors, small rugs which are easily shaken and simple muslin draperies. Many are using double sash curtains at windows for summer, and the effect is quite pretty. The lower curtains are fastened to the sash and so raise with the window, leaving the entire space for air to enter.

Heavyweight sheeting with wide hems all around make dainty bedspreads. They are light and easily laundered.

The kitchen floor may be scrubbed with an ordinary scrub brush fastened to a mop stick, so that one need not get down on hands and knees. Surplus water can be taken up with cloth in another mop stick.

A wise housekeeper keeps a paper over the catch-all pan under the burners of the gas stove and changes it often. That's easier than scouring the pan.

On the sill she keeps a small pot of growing parsley, and she always has green on hand to flavor soup and to decorate the meat platter.

The Pet Cat.

Cats need careful feeding, and it is not generally believed that they can and will (if taught) eat green vegetables. They should be given these in the form of cabbage, cauliflower and asparagus once every day, and that at noon.

Strangely enough, the pet cat's heavy meal, consisting of four ounces of meat, should be given at night, and should invariably be run through a chopper. Potatoes are excluded from the diet of all well cared for cats, but sardines are given twice a week and only in cold weather.

Cats have individual tastes that may be gratified within reason. The ordinary American cat—and it is more satisfactory than the Angora—may be given peaches or currants or coconut. These are mentioned because they were the peculiar dainties liked by a cat of the writer's acquaintance.

All of the cat's milk is boiled and given warm and well diluted, and is very important, a daily supply of fresh water and green grass is absolutely necessary.

Automatic Housekeeping.

Automatic housekeeping as understood by the Englishwoman implies orders given to the cook and to other who minister to the wants of the household in such a way that the mistress is saved the trouble of thinking of every small thing that needs attention and yet each detail receives expert care. The sweep has orders to come on certain days of the year, to window cleaners on a certain day each fortnight or so; the window boxes inside flowers receive regular care from the florist, etc. Even the breakfast luncheon and dinner menus are mapped out by the month, subject, course, to certain unforeseen changes. Carefully thought out and checked from time to time, the system has many merits if not carried to excess. The ordering of meals wholesale is detail that may most readily lead to extravagance and waste.

CHILE'S PRESIDENT WARMLY WELCOMED

Salute of Twenty-One Guns and Other Attentions.

New York, Aug. 4.—When President Pedro Montt of Chile arrived here on the steamship Tagus, which he boarded at Colon, the guns at Fort Wadsworth gave the presidential salute of twenty-one guns. The army quartermaster's boat took on board a committee designated by President Taft to receive the Chilean president. There were in the reception committee Chandler Hale, third assistant secretary of state; Major General Carter, U. S. A., assistant chief of staff, and Captain H. P. M. Huse, U. S. N., commandant of the Philadelphia navy yard. The army and navy officers are assigned as aides to President Montt during his stay in this country. The official reception committee was joined by Alberto Yoncham, charge d'affaires du Chile, and John Barrett, director of the bureau of American republics at Washington. At the quarantine station the quartermaster's boat drew alongside of the Tagus and took on board President Montt, his wife, his sister-in-law, widow of a brother of the president; Colonel Bari, the president's military aide; Dr. Munich, the president's private physician; Herman Echeverria, the president's private secretary, and a private chaplain.

Nearly twenty years ago Pedro Montt was Chilean minister in Wash-

S. S. S. CURES RHEUMATISM

The cause of Rheumatism is an excess of uric acid in the blood. The uric acid impurity gets into the circulation by absorption, usually because of constipation, weak kidneys, and other systemic irregularities. Then the blood becomes weak and sour and irritating urate particles are formed in this vital fluid. When in this impure condition the blood can not furnish the necessary amount of nourishment to the different muscles, tendons, nerves and ligaments of the body. Instead it constantly steepens them in the briny acid matter, and the gritty, urate particles collect in the joints, which causes the pains, aches and soreness of Rheumatism. Liniments, plasters, etc. may relieve the acute pain of an attack of Rheumatism, but such treatment does not reach the blood and therefore can have no permanent good effect. There is but one way to cure Rheumatism and that is to purify the blood of the acid poison. S. S. S. goes into the circulation and attacks the disease at its head. It removes the cause for the reason that it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It filters out every trace of the sour, inflammatory matter, cools the acid-heated circulation, adds richness and nourishment to the blood and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. does not patch up, it cures permanently. S. S. S. is especially valuable as a remedy for Rheumatism because it does not contain a particle of harmful mineral in any form. It is purely vegetable, a fine tonic as well as blood purifier. Book on Rheumatism sent free to all who write.

"One of the prettiest compliments I have ever had paid to me," said Mme. Melba, "was at one of the smaller Australian towns—Mount Morgan by name. Two little boys were unable to gain admission to the hall, and I let them come in and sit behind the orchestra. At the end of the concert I told them that they owed me a guinea apiece. The older of the two rose to his feet, saluted, and said: 'Madame, we owe you much more than that.' Don't you think that was a great compliment?" said Mme. Melba.

INDIAN LAND BRIBERY DEAL

Before Congressional Committee Appointed to Investigate Senator Gore's Story of Attempts at Bribery, the Oklahoma Statesman Names Vice President Sherman as Man Quoted to Him as the Man Higher Up.Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 5.—Jacob Hammon, former national Republican committeeman from Oklahoma, was named by Senator Thomas P. Gore as the man who, on May 6, this year, offered a bribe of $25,000 in Washington in connection with legislation affecting the $20,000,000 Indian land deal that is now being investigated by a special committee from the house of representatives.Senator Gore also declared that Hammon told him Vice President Sherman, Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas and Representative Bird McGuire of Oklahoma were interested in the deal.
Senator Gore, after declaring that he had been approached by Jacob Hammon, asserted that Hammon had said a man "higher up" in the government was "interested" in the contracts.
Senator Gore at first said he was reluctant to name the man mentioned as "higher up," but later on, being pressed by Representative Burke, chairman of the committee, declared that Hammon had used the name of Vice President Sherman."When I scoffed, at the offer of a bribe, even if it were raised to $50,000,
as Hammon suggested it might be,"
testified Senator Gore, "my visitor (Hammon), in my office at Washington, went on to say that other members of congress were interested in the contracts. He said Senator Curtis was interested and Congressman McGuire of Oklahoma, was interested, and then he mentioned the name of a man higher up in the government. I was appalled when I heard that name.""What was the name of that man higher up?" asked Chairman Burke.
"Well," replied Senator Gore, "I don't like to say. Indeed, I could not repeat it without a great deal of reluctance.""Now, Senator Gore," explained Mr.
Burke, "this committee has come here to get all the facts and we want you to tell all you know.""Well, as that is true," responded Mr. Gore, "I will tell all I know. The man mentioned by Hammon as being higher up and interested in the Mc-Murray contracts was Vice President Sherman."He then produced a newspaper clipping to show that Sherman and Curtis had called on the president recommending the general approval of the contracts.No further questions were asked concerning the mention of Vice President Sherman.Ex-Senators Long of Kansas and Thurston of Nebraska, and Rickard Adams, a Delaware Indian, were also referred to as men who had an interest in the contracts. Congressman Creager corroborated Gore's testimony. Creager said he had been approached by Hammon and offered an interest in the contracts if he would still the opposition in congress. The contracts referred to are individual contracts with the Indians of the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations, whereby McMurray is to get 10 per cent of the entire proceeds of coal and asphalt land and other property of the tribes
when sold.Gore said that he understood that Sherman was favorable to the contracts. Later he said he did not care to impeach a high official of the senate on the word of a man of the character of Hammon. He referred to Hammon as a "man who befriended me in time of need," and told how Hammon had gone on his note for $300 before the primary campaign in Oklahoma. Gore, proceeding further about his conversation with Hammon, said: "Hammon was to transact all the business and have the contract made with him. He said there would be no checks. It would be clean money." He inferred that the money was to be paid after the deal was made, Senator Gore continued."I let Hammon talk on because I wanted to get all the information I could on this. I went to La Follette and other senators and told them what had occurred." Gore explained during his testimony that it would have been absurd for congress to sanction the McMurray contracts which called for a 10 per cent fee out of the $30,000,000 sale, as the government had already guaranteed to sell the land for the Indians without any expense to them.
The land involved in the McMurray contracts included 450,000 acres in the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations. The mineral deposits there are valued at $160,000,000, according to the geological survey.The committee will remain in session for four or five days and then proceed to McAlester, where they will go further into the details of the Indian contracts.

JAMES S. SHERMAN

Vice President Named by Senator Gore as "the Man Higher Up."Gore at the Muskogee congressional inquiry in the Indian attorney fee matter, in which his name was used as one of those interested in the McMurray contracts, emphatically denied having any connection with the matter whatever.

NO TRUTH IN IT

That Is What Sherman Says of the Gore Charges.Utica, N. Y., Aug. 5.—Vice President
James S. Sherman said that the charge made by Senator Gore at Muskogee, naming him as the man supposedly
"higher up" in the McMurray Indian contracts bribery matter was absolutely without foundation. Sherman's denial was as follows: "The statement credited to Senator Gore in the investigation into the McMurray Indian contracts matter at Muskogee is absolutely without foundation in so far as it refers to me. There is not a vestige of truth in any charge or statement implicating me in this affair."Vice President Sherman left Utica
for Covey's camp in the Adirondacks
just as the wires brought to Utica news of the sensational charge made against him. At first he was disposed to ignore the matter, stating that it did not deserve to be dignified by a denial, but later he gave the brief statement.

BATTLESHIP FLEETAn Incident of Dedication of Pilgrims' Monument.Provincetown, Mass., Aug. 5.—President Taft reviewed his first big fleet of battleships since he became commander-in-chief of the navy, at Provincetown today. The president made the principal address at the dedication of the Pilgrims' monument here. Former President Roosevelt laid the cornerstone some years ago and talked particularly about malefactors of wealth.
Taft confined himself to the Pilgrims and earlier colonial history. Governor Draper of Massachusetts, Senator Lodge, Congressman McCleary of Minnesota and other well-known men also spoke.The president came to Provincetown on the Mayflower. The yacht passed in review between the line of battleships and there were the usual salutes and visits of the battleship commanders to the president and the return
call. The Mayflower is expected to return to Beverly this evening.Tomorrow the Mayflower will have another president aboard her for a few hours. President Montt of Chile will go to Beverly from Boston in the yacht Saturday morning. He will be the guest of the president at luncheon at Burgess Point.Vice President Sherman, who has taken the stump for the congressional committee, will continue his speechmaking until Sept. 20.

FERRETING MURDER MYSTERY

Death of Wealthy Trapper, Whose Body Was Found in Charred Ruins of His Home Some Months Ago, Is Now Laid at the Door of William Ashby, Who Has Been Held on Suspicion Pending Further Investigation.Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 5.—William Ashby, the son of a grocer, is under arrest on a charge of murdering Samuel Waddell, a trapper, whose charred body was found in the ruins of an old log cabin nine miles west of here, which was destroyed by fire early in the morning of March 20. How the death of Waddell came about was a mystery, but since his death his two cousins have been at work on the case and little by little have accumulated evidence which resulted in Ashby's arrest. Waddell was known to have had a large sum of money on his person
the night of the fire. He and Ashby and a man named James Casner were in Lafayette that night and rode out together on the Ashby wagon. Waddell left the wagon at a cross-roads and went to his home. According to Ashby's story to the coroner and the grand jury, he continued on home and went to bed.He and his wife quarreled last week and separated. He later came to the city, became intoxicated and was arrested. The police searched Ashby and found $250 in his clothes. This was a surprise, as Ashby had always been regarded as a poor man. Mrs.
Ashby told the officers that she suspected her husband, and a pistol that was found on him is known to have belonged to Waddell. In the ruins of the cabin was found $8,200 in gold and silver. This had been hidden by Waddell, who lived the life of a hermit.
The only thing not found was his revolver. He was known to have had $1,000 in paper money on his person that night. According to the state's theory this money was stolen from him and in the stealing of it he was probably murdered and his cabin set on fire. Ashby denies all knowledge of the crime.The police are working hard on the case, and while all the evidence so far is circumstantial, they believe they will be able to make a good case against the accused man.

IN CO-OPERATION

Farmers Intend to Build Elevators and Make Over Grain Prices.Loogootee, Ind., Aug. 5.—The state convention of the Farmers' Education and Co-Operative Union, meeting in this city, resolved to build elevators at different points in the state and store their own grain, thus doing away with the middlemen. Steps were taken to raise money to erect elevators and build warehouses by selling stock in the enterprise to farmers, each member to own at least one share. The members say that they do not intend to become a trust, but they propose to hold their products till they can get fair prices, a thing that they are not doing now. The union is similar to the Burley Tobacco Society of Kentucky, except that the union disposes of the grain of the members instead of the tobacco, as in Kentucky.

Anderson, Ind., Aug. 5.—Mistaking
his friend's arm for a bullfrog, Henry Anderson shot and painfully wounded
Edwin Foley while they were frog hunting. Foley was on his knees in tall weeds near the edge of the stream and Anderson, having lost sight of his companion, thought Foley's elbow was a frog, and fired. A rifle bullet pierced Foley's arm.

The Police Investigating.

Hammond, Ind., Aug. 5.—The police are trying to solve the mystery surrounding the shooting of John Hueb-ner, a business man of Hammond, who was found lying in his store with a bullet wound below his heart. Hueb-ner, before being taken to the hospital,
tried to say the shooting was accidental, but a suicide theory has since developed.

burned and suffered injuries in addition, as a result of being thrown from the pole on which he was at work.Wealthy Farmer Killed by Train.

years old, was instantly killed and his body horribly mangled.

worked with him several hours before assured of recovery.

SPAIN FACING EARLY CRISIS

Sunday Promises to Be a Day of Bloodshed.

CLERICALS GREATLY INCENSED

By Placing a Ban on Proposed Church Demonstration at San Sebastian Next Sunday, the Government Has Aroused Carlists and Clericals to a Pitch Which Bodes Trouble—Both Sides Prepared For Clash.

Madrid, Aug. 5.—The ban which has been placed by the government upon the proposed big Catholic demonstration at San Sebastian next Sunday has greatly incensed the clericals and members of the Carlist party, who declare that they are more determined than ever to carry out their plans. The anti-clerical newspapers report that the priests are urging the peasants to defend their religion with the last drop of their blood if necessary, and they are even distributing arms among the people.

In order to keep down the size of the crowd which threatens to pour into San Sebastian, the government has commandeered the trains and steamboats which the demonstrators had expected to use for the occasion. This will prevent the attendance of many who had hoped to go from Bilbao and other points. It is said that the government will use the conveyances thus seized to carry troops to San Sebastian. It is added that the soldiers have been ordered to take ball cartridges and have been instructed not to hesitate to use them if the occasion arises.

Naturally the seizure of the trains and boats will greatly hamper the clericals, but they are hiring every available auto and other vehicle that they can lay their hands on. Thousands have made up their minds to walk if necessary.

A fresh complication arose when it became known that the republicans were planning a counter demonstration for Sunday.

A FINE ORGANIZATION

Indiana Republican Workers System-
atizing Their Labors.

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, August 4.—James P. Goodrich, former state chairman of Indiana Republicans, will be one of seventy-five Republican party workers to devote the entire week, next week, to practical, definite, purposeful organization work. Squads of five men each are to go out into the state for six days of effort. There will be fifteen of these squads. Mr. Goodrich will be in one five. Each squad will visit six counties, giving twenty-four hours to each county. In every county the county committeemen, the precincts group of workers, and the county, legislative and congressional candidates will be on hand to hear the organization talks of the five workers sent from headquarters. In a week's time ninety counties will be visited. In six days ginger will be injected into the precinct workers by the best hustlers the efficient Indiana Republican organization can send forth. It is the start of the big campaign. All before has been a mere preparation for the definite effort now to be launched. Today, at Republican state headquarters, the militant workers, enlisted for the campaign, gathered to confer and to outline the work that is to be done next week. Everything is in the open and above board, just as in former Republican state campaigns. Organization is the cry at this time, and for some weeks to come, a lot of energy, thought and activity will be put into the work of forming a compact fighting organization to do the hustling that is needed to insure Republican victory.

The Republican campaign in Indiana is on a high plane, as usual. The platform embodies the best and most progressive doctrines of the times. The platform is one on which the Republicans can make a strong appeal to all classes of voters. The personality of Senator Beveridge is an asset and a strength, and his speaking campaign is expected to strengthen the party cause largely all over the state. The state ticket is made up of vigorous, self-made, reliant and reliable men who come from the people, and who can make direct appeal to the masses for support. Every man on the ticket is a vote-getter, and all in their respective places, are factors in strengthening the whole party. The congressional candidates are strong and helpful. The legislative candidates have been carefully chosen with relation to their abilities to draw voting strength, as well as with reference to the public confidence in their ability to serve. All these are factors, and the lofty abstractions and ideals which base the Republican party cause, in principle and in legislative enactment, are recognized as underlying everything, and invigorating the whole. But it is an accepted axiom of politics that with all the uplift and the issues and the paramounting of fundamentals, there yet must be organization. And that organization must be such a one as will get out the vote and get the ballots in the box Nov. 8.

There is exhorting to do. There is editorial writing to be done. There is missionary work, argument, logic and talk to be used. Eloquence has a front place and the righteousness of a just cause must be proved. But in addition, always, is the compact organization to be put to work, and the precinct hustling to be done, and to be done efficiently. It is with all this in view that Chairman Lee and his workers are going into the counties next week to speak of the methods and needs of the situation. Chairman Lee does not claim to be an orator or a spellbinder, but he does want to make good as an organizer. The vote, and the vote in the box, is his concern. He recognizes the importance of a just cause, and of silver-tongued orators to impress that justice on the masses. He sees that the speaking campaign is indispensable. But he goes further and holds that the organizer has his place in politics, also.

Will Freeman, former state forester, is another of the workers who is to help in the campaign. John C. Billheimer has enlisted for the war, and is in the field, actively at work. Colonel W. H. Huffman is another stand-by worker who has put on the party armor for the campaign. Ralph Kane, Walter Ball, W. E. Springer, W. A. Guthrie, and many others are to take part in the organization movement.

There is activity in the various congressional districts. In the Second Will Hays, the chairman, and Oscar E. Bland, the congressional candidate, are stirring about with great vigor. Mr. Hays declined to act as chairman of the speakers' bureau of the state committee primarily because he believed he could win in the Second if he would give all his time to the district fight. In the Fifth, Frank Tilley, the congressional candidate, and Thad Peck, the district chairman, are making a round of the counties, working hard on organization plans. In the Sixth Elmer Bassett, chairman, and W. O. Barnard, the congressional nominee, are making a tour of the district and are meeting the workers in the trenches. In the Eleventh Frank Stults, chairman, and John L. Thompson, nominee for congress, are hustling as never before and are making visits to the workers in all corners of the six counties. Similar activity will be shown from this on in other districts. The state candidates have been out feeling the public pulse and sounding public sentiment, and will report at today's meeting.

DELFT EMBROIDERY.

Smart Effects For Use in Summer Cottages.

Delft embroidery is new and is most attractive in its cool dullness of tone for the summer room. It is nearly all worked in dull blue of several shades upon a sort of coarse butcher's linen so nearly white that it can scarcely be called cream.

All of these bags are faced with the lighter of the three shades of blue and drawn up with corresponding ribbons.

It must be remembered that the choice of color is as important a factor

TO HOLD DARNING.

In this work as is the design if the finished product is to resemble delft ware.

Varying but slightly in idea and general effect, the two bags show each a different little Dutch figure, one of them knitting, the other merely a face and both of them done in a combination of stitches, including outline, solid, skeleton, cat stitch and laid work.

They are used to their best advantage in the carrying out of each part of the design, as are also the several shades of blue.

Dutch figures similar to these are carried out in a whole line of art needlework, including larger bags for the family mending, laundry bags, bedroom hangings and couch cushions.

A prominent feature throughout the whole lot of this delft blue fancy work is the standing or seated figure of a woman knitting. She is characteristic of her country—a thrifty house-mother providing for her family by primitive means.

All of these figures are treated by that method known to the decorative artist, a method that outlines its most

A KNITTING BAG.

Impressive parts with a single darker line. In this case it is accomplished by outlining.

One of the bags is intended for darning, one for knitting, and like designs may be applied to all sizes of work-bags or to many pieces of linen for use in the bedrooms of summer cottages.

The Guest Towel.
One of the prettiest designs in bedroom towels seen for a long time is called the guest room towel. It is of soft damask, woven in a dainty scattered design of sweet peas, a deep border of the flowers appearing at the ends, which are hemstitched.

The size is 20 by 38 inches and the price 35 cents each.

A novelty in bath towels is a bleached Turkish towel, with a red jacquard border that will not run in the washing, but will come from its tubbing looking like new. It costs only 25 cents and measures 20 by 44 inches, a reasonable price.

The crossbar dimities and the self checked lawns are responsible for some of the daintiest looking pillowshams designed especially for summer use.

A rather large checked lawn, decorated with water lilies above a scalloped border, is thirty-two inches square and costs 85 cents. The scarf, 18 by 34, is the same price.

A second design is a grouping of daisies and bowknots set on above a pretty scroll pattern edge buttonhole, the material crossbar dimity. This is thirty-two inches square and costs 50 cents. The scarf is the same price.

Another pretty idea is a pillowsham of fine dotted swiss hemstitched to a wide border of sheer crossbar. Price 85 cents.

For the Tea Drinker.

Those women who are fastidious in regard to their tea will be interested in a new teapot that seems to have reached perfection. It is simple too. Inside the pot there is a tea ball, its chain passing through the knob on the cover of the pot. This ball is filled with tea and is drawn up into a hollow in the cover.

Freshly boiled water is poured into the pot, and the steam arising from it moistens the tea. After a few minutes the ball is lowered into the water, then raised when sufficient strength has been extracted—all this without lifting the lid of the pot.

CARLISLE NOTED IN PUBLIC LIFE

Cleveland's Adviser Climbed Political Ladder Successfully.

WAS NATIVE OF KENTUCKY.

Career Begun in Blue Grass State Legislature Reached to Speakership of National House, Senate and President's Cabinet—Prominent in Low Tariff Ranks.

John Griffin Carlisle, whose recent death in New York was forecast by his long illness, was not only secretary of the treasury under Mr. Cleveland and one of the chief friends and advisers of that president, but had also to the credit of his long public career a seat in the United States senate and the speakership of the house of representatives.

Mr. Carlisle had been lieutenant governor of his native state of Kentucky and held a seat in both houses of its legislature. He was a gold Democrat, and his party recognized him as leader on the question of taxation. In the tariff debates he also won high standing with the party for his advocacy of lower schedules.

Starting life in poverty, with a meager education, when he was admitted to the bar in 1858, after several years of teaching, he was only twenty-three years old and had already given promise of a brilliant career. He was born in Campbell county, Ky., in 1835, the youngest son in the numerous family of Libbon H. Carlisle, a planter of good Virginian stock.

With the exception of his early instruction in the common schools, he was self educated. When he was still in his teens he taught school. His leisure time gave him an opportunity to read lawbooks, and a year or two later he moved to Covington, Ky., and became a clerk in the law office of Governor J. W. Stevenson.

Began Politics Early.

When he was admitted to the bar he was already interested in politics, and when he was twenty-four he was elected a member of the lower house of the Kentucky legislature. He was re-elected four times. In 1864 he declined to be nominated as a presidential elector on the Democratic ticket to cast a vote against the re-election of President Lincoln, and in 1866 he was elected state senator. He was re-elected to the senate.

At the Democratic national convention held in New York in 1868 Carlisle made his first appearance in the arena of national politics as a delegate at large from Kentucky. Horatio Seymour was nominated for the presidency at this convention. Mr. Carlisle was lieutenant governor of Kentucky from 1871 to 1875. A year later he was one of the alternate Tilden electors at large from Kentucky.

When Mr. Carlisle was elected to congress in 1876 Samuel J. Randall, whom he was to overthrow, was a power in the lower house. This was the Forty-fifth congress. He was five times re-elected by large majorities and served as speaker for three terms. He was an authority on parliamentary law, and when the house seemed inextricably involved his clear judicial terms straightened things out and brought calmness out of the apparent chaos.

Mr. Carlisle won his spurs in congress on the Carlisle internal revenue bill in the Forty-fifth congress. From that hour he became the recognized leader of his party on the question of taxation. He was the life and soul of the 3 per cent bank bill. The measure afterward passed the senate, but was vetoed by President Hayes.

Three Years in Senate.

Mr. Carlisle stepped from the house into the senate in 1890, when he was chosen to fill the unexpired term of James B. Beck, whose service was brought to a close by his death. He was recognized as a leader in the three years that he served in the senate before the president called him to the cabinet in 1893.

The country was in the midst of a financial crisis, largely due to past unsound legislation, under which the gold reserve had been diminished, silver had accumulated and the expenditures had exceeded the revenues of the national government. The first step in the Cleveland-Carlisle financial program for the mitigation of the dangers that threatened was to recommend the repeal of the Sherman act, which required the monthly purchase of 4,500,000 ounces of silver and the payment thereof with treasury notes. This repeal was effected after various attempts by the Republicans in congress to defeat the measure.

The next step in the program was the recommendation of tariff reforms. In this Carlisle was in perfect accord with President Cleveland. Ten years before Mr. Carlisle had expressed himself very forcibly on the subject when

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

THE CHEERFUL GIVER

There is one striking peculiarity that attaches to the cheerful giver and that peculiarity is that he always has something to give. The cheerfulness seems to increase the capital. As there are plants that bloom most profusely when the blossoms are plucked daily, so the free bestowal of gifts seems continually to increase the store of the giver.

THEY NEVER FAIL.

That is What They Say About Them
in Seymour, and It Is Therefore Reliable.

Another proof, more evidence, Seymour testimony to swell the long list of local people who endorse the old Quaker remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this convincing endorsement of that remarkable preparation:

Louis Scheurich, 317 W. Oak street Seymour, Ind., says: "I suffered from pains across the small of my back, accompanied by a weakness through my joints that made it hard for me to get about. When a friend told me that he had used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results and advised me to try them, I did so. I received great relief from the first and continued use resulted in a cure. I can say that Doan's Kidney Pills act just as represented." (Statement given in 1906.)

GOOD WORK.

On April 14, 1910, when Mr. Scheurich was interviewed, he added to the again recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. "It gives me pleasure to Pills. Since this remedy cured me of kidney trouble, my health has been excellent."

Veils as Cause of Red Noses.

A prominent physician has given voice to a definite protest against women wearing veils. This authority asserts it is one of the most injurious practices of which he has knowledge and insists red noses are the result of veils and nothing else. If there is anything a woman objects to it is a red or greasy nose, and these troubles, according to this physician, find their origin in the wearing of a veil on almost every occasion. The veil prevents the air striking the face as it would if the veil was off, and when the face is heated the nose becomes greasy and almost invariably has a reddish appearance. This doctor would not even advise a veil to be worn on automobile rides, asserting a pair of "goggles," merely to protect the eyes from dust and insects, is all that is required for a woman who cares about her complexion and general facial appearance, and what woman does not?

Play a Good Game.

A girl once started in business, a very young, green and awkward specimen. But she had always played games as a boy might, and she started out to work in the same spirit. She wasn't personally hurt when the manager was worried and less polite than usual; neither was she mean and fussy over small things. She had a normal, healthy attitude toward her fellow employees. Her work was not mere drudgery, but a part of the game to be skillfully played. Moreover, she worked for the firm who employed her as eagerly as she had played on her basketball team. This same spirit carried her to victory in the bigger game.

It's a great game. To be happy and wise we must play a good game. Let's get into the game and—play ball.

Rolling Pins.

When the young housekeeper is buying a rolling pin she might as well buy a pretty one as an ugly one, especially as there is no difference in the price. Some wooden pins are as highly polished as a fine piece of furniture and china rolling pins may be either perfectly white or of delectable blue and white. In selecting a rolling pin, however, a thought must be given to cleanliness. A wooden pin may not be as pretty as a china one, but if the wooden handle of the china one does not fit closely into the roller the dough will get inside and there is no way to get it out. So, however pretty the china roller, see that the wooden handle fits snugly. There are glass pins which many housekeepers prefer to either china or the wooden.

Nothing in a Name.

"Look here, waiter," said Mr. Grouch, growling deeply over his plate. "I ordered turtle soup. There isn't even a morsel of turtle in this."

"Of course not," returned the waiter. "Shakespeare said there was nothing in a name. If you ordered cottage pudding would you expect a cottage in it? Any tea, sir?"

Honey is laxative and sedative, and in diseases of the bladder and kidneys it is an excellent remedy.
